

California communities begin paying coronavirus patients to stay home from work

BY

Backers of the new, local programs say their efforts fill a gap by encouraging more workers, especially those who may be reluctant to seek help due to their immigration status, to get tested by offering them assistance during isolation. They also connect them

